

March is Cancer Research Relay For Life Month

The Relay for Life is a significant fundraising event organized by the American Cancer Society aimed at raising funds to support cancer research and patient support services. The event includes a celebration of cancer survivors, a luminaria ceremony to honor loved ones lost to cancer, and a competition among teams to raise money. Participants can join teams, recruit friends and family, and raise funds through various activities. The funds raised help improve the lives of cancer patients and their families through advocacy, research, and patient support.
